A Note from the Executive Director

Debbie France, RN BSN CDP

Here at White Oaks McHenry and across the Gardant communities, on June 21st we recognized The Longest Day. The first day of summer has been chosen by the Alzheimer's Association to bring awareness to Alzheimer's and dementia. I'm happy to announce White Oaks McHenry raised $1,750.00 for the Alzheimer's Association through our fundraising efforts. We celebrated with a luau and enjoyed some great tropical music and pina colada floats!

ABOUT THE MONTH OF JULY

Rick Banas

In an interesting twist of fate, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, the second and third Presidents of the United States, died on July 4, 1826 – 50 years to the day after the Declaration of Independence was adopted.

Blame Abe? President Abraham Lincoln signed the first income tax bill on July 1, 1862, levying a tax of 3% on incomes of $600 to $10,000 and 5% on incomes of more than $10,000. The Bureau of Internal Revenue also was established.

On July 6, 1865, Louis Pasteur gave the first successful anti-rabies inoculation to a boy who had been bitten by an infected dog.

Insulin was introduced in July 1923.

In July 1931, the City of Chicago reportedly could not pay its 14,000 teachers their salaries because the city ran out of money.

President Lyndon Johnson signed the Social Security Act of 1965, establishing Medicare and Medicaid, with the two programs financed by higher Social Security taxes.

The period from July 3 through Aug. 11 are known as the Dog Days of Summer, referring to the hot and humid weather that often occurs during July and August. The hottest temperature recorded in the U.S. was on July 10, 1913. The temperature in Death Valley reached 134 degrees. It reportedly was hot enough to fry an egg on a rock in a matter of seconds. The Dust Bowl years in the 1930s brought some of the hottest summers, especially to the Plains, Upper Midwest and Great Lakes states.

July also is known as Hay Month as the grass often dries out due to the heat and lack of rain. The dried grass can be made into hay.

July is National Ice Cream, Hot Dog and Pickle Month,

July 2 is World UFO Day.

Healthy Vision Month by National Eye Institute (NEI)

Chrisi Karcz, VP Clinical Services

The month of July is recognized as Healthy Vision Month by National Eye Institute (NEI). According to NEI (April 2023), eye disease and vision loss affects millions of Americans. Early detection and treatment can help to protect and prevent vision loss. As people age, they are at greater risk for age-related macular degeneration, cataract, and glaucoma. Early detection and treatment are important to prevent vision loss and blindness.

Tips to help protect your vision include:

1. See an eye doctor for regular examination.
2. Have eyes dilated per doctor's recommendation for better visibility of eye structures.
3. Increase movement/activity to lower blood pressure and blood sugar levels.
4. Learn your family eye health history as some eye diseases, i.e., glaucoma, age-related macular degeneration, are hereditary.
5. Eat healthy foods to help prevent health conditions like diabetes or high blood pressure.
6. Use sunglasses to protect your eyes from sun exposure.
7. Manage long-term health conditions like diabetes and high blood pressure which can increase risk for some eye diseases.
8. Stop smoking! Quitting smoking will help lower your risk for eye diseases like macular degeneration and cataracts.

Programs that offer free or low-cost eye care

These programs offer free or low-cost eye care. Keep in mind that you'll need to apply to get help from these programs — and many programs have specific requirements, like having a low income or a higher risk of certain eye diseases.

Most of these programs provide services across the United States, but your area may have local organizations and services that can help, too.

For all ages

These people and organizations may be able to connect you to low-cost eye care:

- Your regular doctor. Your doctor may be able to refer you to low-cost eye care.
- Your eye doctor. If you already have an eye doctor and you need help paying for your care or treatment, ask them if there are programs you may qualify for that can help.
- Community health centers. Some community health centers have an eye clinic and offer free or low-cost care.
- Local colleges or universities. If there is a college or university near you that has an optometry or ophthalmology program, ask if they offer low-cost eye care.
- Your local pharmacy. Ask your pharmacist if they offer discounts on medicines or medicine delivery.
